Dear JOASH JESURUN ALFRED JEEVARANJAN,

Your application for a visit visa to the United Kingdom has been refused.

What this means for you

Any future UK visa applications you make will be considered on their individual merits, however you are likely to be refused unless the circumstances of your application change.

In relation to this decision, there is no right of appeal or right to administrative review.

The reasons for this decision are set out on the next page.

Yours sincerely,

ZE
UKVI

The Data Protection Act 2018 governs how we use personal data. For details of how we will use your personal information and who we may share it with please see our Privacy Notice for the Border, Immigration and Citizenship system at <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/personal-information-use-in-borders-immigration-and-citizenship>. This also explains your key rights under the Act, how you can access your personal information and how to complain if you have concerns.

REASONS FOR REFUSAL

You have applied for a visa to visit the UK.

In deciding whether you meet the requirements of Appendix V: Visitor of the Immigration Rules (<https://www.gov.uk/guidance/immigration-rules/immigration-rules-appendix-v-visitor>), I have considered:

- your application and any additional relevant information you have provided with it
- your immigration history

The decision

I have refused your application for a visit visa because I am not satisfied that you meet the requirements of paragraph(s) V4.2 – V4.6 of Appendix V because:

I have considered the documents and information that you have provided in support of your application as part of the assessment process. The onus is on you, the applicant, to show that you meet the requirements of the immigration rules and that you will comply with all the conditions attached to any visa and, in addition, that you will leave the UK on completion of the proposed visit.

You state that you wish to travel to the UK for 1 month to visit your parents. Whilst I recognise that family visits are important, I must consider the information regarding your sponsor's support of your visit separately in my assessment of your application. To consider whether or not I am satisfied that your intentions are as stated and that you meet the requirements of the Immigration Rules, I must assess your own personal and economic circumstances.

I have considered the information you have provided about your personal and economic circumstances. You have stated on your application that you live in your family home, you further state that you are not employed or enrolled in ongoing studies. I am not satisfied that the information you have provided demonstrates ties or supports that you are independently established to satisfy me that you are settled in your country of residence. That this represents a strong reason to encourage you to the UK or that these constitute ties that tend to support your stated intention for you to leave after the limited period as stated by you and that you intend a genuine visit.

I am not satisfied that you have accurately demonstrated how you are supported in your country of residence or that you are well established and would be encouraged to depart the UK at the end of your proposed visit. The above stated issue relating to the credibility of your application and leads me to doubt your stated intentions in the UK.

I have considered the documents and information submitted in your application and, given the above and on the balance of probabilities, I am not satisfied that your intentions in visiting on this occasion are as stated and that you would leave the UK at the end of the period. Your application is therefore refused under Paragraph V 4.2 (a)(c) of the Immigration Rules.
